

I'm lucky enough to live with my mother and she has been in her home almost 30 years. And she had an air conditioning unit and a heating unit that was on the flips. And because of her health issues, it was starting to become an issue. So now every time the winter season was coming, she would be afraid. And every time the summer season was coming, she would be afraid because there was actually no heat or air coming in. First of all, Blazer came in with a very high end unit and was able to pinpoint exactly what she needed. It's been amazing. It's not even a company that we use. We consider Blazer a part of the family.
